

WHAT IS DRT?

Demand Responsive Transport is proposed for villages which buses currently serve infrequently or not at all. It will transform access so everyone can access a bus when need it as opposed to once or only a few times a day, or once a week - or no current buses at all in some locations.

It is planned to be available between 06:00 and 22:00 on Mondays to Fridays, and between 08:00 and 20:00 on Sundays and Bank Holidays.

It's a bookable bus service that can take you to the nearest town and to transport hubs where you can catch an onwards connection by bus or rail (where available) to Cambridge and wider destinations.

The fares and concessions will be consistent with local buses – so it is proposed that the proposed £2 single fare will cover onward travel by bus to Cambridge and other destinations.

Travel on DRT will be booked through a mobile phone app or a telephone call centre. It will be possible to book DRT between one week and 5 minutes in advance (subject to a vehicle being available for the journey being requested).

What is TING?

TING is a demand responsive travel pilot trial in West Huntingdonshire, providing on-demand bus trips in the area to key towns such as St Neots, Huntingdon and Sawtry. The service is available 7am-7pm Monday to Friday and 8am-4pm Saturday and it can be used for just £2 a single fare and £4 return, making TING fares consistent with the wider Making Connections proposition. Trips can be booked by downloading an app or by calling a designated phone number, giving you the freedom to choose where and when the bus will pick you up. Demand Responsive Services like the Ting mean that people don't have to rely on a car for flexible and convenient travel.

Below is a list of settlements in the Making Connections area which are proposed to be served by DRT – including a number in Huntingdonshire currently in the Ting DRT zone:
